UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
WESTERN DIVISION

WAYMAN TRIPP and SVEN
MOSSBERG, Individually and on Behalf of all Others Similarly Situated,

Plaintiffs,

v.

INDYMAC BANCORP, INC. and MICHAEL W. PERRY,

Defendants.

Case No. 2:07-CV-1635-GW (VBK)

CLASS REPRESENTATIVE'S
NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR FINAL APPROVAL
OF CLASS ACTION SETTLEMENT
AND PLAN OF ALLOCATION OF SETTLEMENT PROCEEDS; AND
MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES IN SUPPORT

Date: January 28, 2013
Time: 8:30 a.m.
Room: 10
Judge: Hon. George H. Wu

1 TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

2 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on January 28, 2013, at 8:30 a.m. in 3 Courtroom 10 of the United States District Court for the Central District of 4 California, U.S. Courthouse, 312 North Spring Street, Los Angeles, California 90012, 5 the Honorable George H. Wu presiding, Class Representative Sven Mossberg will 6 and hereby does move for an Order pursuant to Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil 7 Procedure: (i) granting final approval of the proposed settlement of the above-8 captioned securities class action; and (ii) granting final approval of the proposed plan 9 for allocating the settlement proceeds. The grounds for this motion are that the 10 proposed settlement and plan of allocation are fair, reasonable and adequate.

11 This motion is based upon this Notice of Motion and Motion, the 12 Memorandum of Points and Authorities set forth below, the accompanying 13 Declaration of Ramzi Abadou in Support of Final Approval of Class Action
14 Settlement, Plan of Allocation of Settlement Proceeds, and Application for an Award 15 of Attorneys' Fees and Expenses to Plaintiffs' Counsel ("Abadou Decl.") and the 16 exhibits thereto, the Stipulation and Agreement of Settlement dated June 25, 2012 17 ("Stipulation"), filed previously with the Court, the pleadings and records on file in 18 this Action, and other such matters and argument as the Court may consider at the 19 hearing of this motion. This motion is made following the conference of counsel 20 pursuant to L.R. 7-3, which took place on November 26, 2012.

21 Plaintiffs' Counsel will submit a proposed final approval order to the Court 22 along with their reply submission, on or before January 17, 2013.

23 Dated: December 7, 2012

Respectfully submitted,

24

1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 Pursuant to Rule 23(e) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (“Rule 23(e)”), 3 Court-appointed Lead Plaintiff and Class Representative Sven Mossberg (“Lead
4 Plaintiff” or “Class Representative”), by and through his counsel at Kessler Topaz
5 Meltzer & Check, LLP (“Lead Counsel” or “Class Counsel”), respectfully submits 6 this Memorandum of Points and Authorities in support of his motion¹ for an Order:
7 (i) finally approving the proposed settlement of the above-captioned securities class 8 Action, which the Court preliminarily approved by its Order Preliminarily Approving 9 Settlement dated August 10, 2012 (the “Preliminary Approval Order”); and (ii) 10 approving the proposed plan for allocating the settlement proceeds to the Class (the 11 “Plan of Allocation” or the “Plan”).²

12 I. INTRODUCTION

13 The proposed settlement (the “Settlement”) represents a solid result for the 14 Class given the facts and circumstances of this litigation. Pursuant to the terms of the 15 Stipulation, Class Representative has obtained a $5,500,000 (the “Settlement 16 Amount”)³ recovery for the Class in exchange for the dismissal of all claims brought

19 ¹ This motion is currently unopposed. The deadline for filing an objection to the 20 Settlement or any aspect thereof, including the Plan of Allocation, is December 28, 2012.

21 ² The Class, as certified by the Court on November 15, 2011, is comprised of all 22 persons and entities who purchased or otherwise acquired IndyMac Bancorp, Inc.
23 (“IndyMac” or the “Company”) common stock from March 1, 2006 through March 1, 24 2007, inclusive. Excluded from the Class are: IndyMac, Michael W. Perry (the 25 “Defendant” or “Perry”), the officers and directors of the Company, at all relevant 26 times, members of their immediate families and their legal representatives, heirs, 27 successors, or assigns and any entity in which IndyMac or the Defendant has or had a controlling interest. Also excluded from the Class are all persons and entities who timely request exclusion in accordance with the requirements set forth in the Court-approved Notice of Pendency of Class Action and Proposed Settlement, Motion for Attorneys’ Fees and Expenses and Settlement Fairness Hearing (the “Notice”).
Capitalized terms not defined herein shall have those meanings ascribed to them in the Stipulation.

28 ³ On August 24, 2012, the Settlement Amount was paid into an interest-bearing escrow account on behalf of the Class.

1 in the Action and a full release of claims against Perry and the other Released
2 Parties.⁴

3 The Settlement was reached after more than five years of intense litigation, and 4 is the fruit of well-informed and extensive arm's-length settlement negotiations 5 between experienced and knowledgeable counsel, facilitated by a highly experienced 6 and respected mediator.⁵ See Declaration of the Hon. Daniel H. Weinstein (Ret.) in 7 Support of Motion for Final Approval of Class Action Settlement (the "Weinstein 8 Decl.") (filed concurrently herewith). "Judge Weinstein's role in the settlement 9 negotiations strongly supports a finding that they were conducted at arm's-length and 10 without collusion." In re Telik, Inc. Sec. Litig., 576 F. Supp. 2d 570, 576 (S.D.N.Y.
11 2008). As more fully discussed below and in the accompanying Abadou Declaration, 12 Lead Plaintiffs and their counsel performed a substantial investigation into the 13 Class's claims, engaged in extensive and exhaustive motion practice, including a 14 successful motion for class certification, engaged in formal discovery with myriad 15 third parties, and participated in over a year and a half of mediation before 16 successfully negotiating this Settlement for the Class. See Abadou Decl., ¶¶4, 23-17 105, 120-28.

18 At every stage of the Action, Defendant asserted aggressive defenses and, had 19 the Settlement not been reached, the Class would have faced considerable hurdles in 20

21 ⁴ The term "Released Parties" refers collectively to: the Defendant, all former 22 co-defendants, and all of their related parties, including their respective past and 23 present agents, associates, attorneys (including Defendant's Counsel), advisors, spouses, family members, partners, trustees, executors, estates, administrators, subsidiaries, affiliates, predecessors, successors, assigns and insurers.

24 ⁵ See Garner v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 49477, 25 at *35 (N.D. Cal. 2010) ("The Agreement here is the product of arms-length 26 negotiations between the Parties. The Parties engaged in a full day mediation before 27 an experienced mediator, Judge Daniel Weinstein, and thereafter reached an 28 agreement in principle with the further capable assistance of Judge Weinstein."); In re Immune Response Sec. Litig., 497 F. Supp. 2d 1166, 1174 (S.D. Cal. 2007) ("[S]ettlement mediation sessions took place before the Honorable Daniel L. Weinstein (Ret.)....There is nothing to suggest that the settlement involved collusion or fraud."). Unless otherwise noted, all emphasis is added and internal citations are omitted.

1 proving its case, particularly with respect to overcoming Defendant's defenses to 2 liability, loss causation and establishing the Class's full amount of damages at trial.
3 Id. ¶¶106-11. These litigation risks, combined with the ability to pay issues (e.g., 4 limited insurance proceeds at the center of an interpleader action by IndyMac) 5 support approval of the Settlement. Id. ¶¶106-19.

6 The reaction of the Class thus far overwhelmingly supports the Settlement.
7 Pursuant to the Court's Preliminary Approval Order, over 71,000 copies of the Notice
8 have been mailed to potential members of the Class or their nominees.⁶ The Notice 9 contains a detailed description of the nature and procedural history of the Action, as 10 well as the material terms of the Settlement, including: (i) Lead Plaintiff's estimate of 11 the average per share recovery; (ii) the manner in which the Net Settlement Fund will 12 be allocated among participating Class Members; (iii) a description of the claims that 13 will be released in the Settlement; (iv) the right and mechanism for Class Members to 14 exclude themselves from the Class; and (v) the right and mechanism for Class 15 Members to object to the Settlement, the Plan of Allocation, and/or Plaintiffs'
16 Counsel's request for attorneys' fees and expenses.⁷

17 As of the date of this memorandum, not a single objection to any aspect of the 18 Settlement has been received, and only two individuals have requested exclusion
19 from the Class. See Miller Decl., ¶¶16-17 and Exhibit I attached thereto; Abadou

20 21 ⁶ See ¶¶4-9 of the Declaration of Eric J. Miller Regarding (A) Mailing of the 22 Notice and Proof of Claim and Release Form, (B) Publication of the Summary
23 Notice, and (C) Report on Exclusion Requests Received to Date (the "Miller Decl.")
24 (filed concurrently herewith) submitted on behalf of Rust Consulting, Inc. ("Rust"), 25 the Court-authorized claims administrator for this Settlement. In addition, the Court-26 approved Summary Notice was published twice in Investor's Business Daily and over 27 the PR Newswire on September 6, 2012 and October 25, 2012. See id. ¶¶10-11.
28 Information regarding the Settlement, including downloadable copies of the Notice and Proof of Claim, was also posted on the website established for the Settlement, www.indymacclassactionsettlement.com. Id. ¶¶13-15.

⁷ As set forth in the Notice, the deadline for submitting a request for exclusion from the Class or filing an objection to the Settlement, or any aspect thereof, is December 28, 2012. If any requests for exclusion or objections are received after the date of this submission, Plaintiffs' Counsel will address them in a separate submission to be filed with the Court on or before January 17, 2013.

1 Decl., ¶¶134, 179. Neither of the requests for exclusion received to date appear to be 2 valid. One request for exclusion was submitted by an individual who does not appear 3 to be a Class Member, as her purchase of 20 shares of IndyMac common stock
4 occurred years before the start of the Class Period. Miller Decl., Ex. I. The other 5 request for exclusion does not provide the transactional information necessary to 6 determine Class membership. Id. Moreover, Class Representative, who, inter alia, 7 “dedicated a substantial amount of time monitoring the progress in this litigation and 8 the efforts of Class Counsel on behalf of the Class” and “engaged in discussions with 9 [Class Counsel] concerning the pros and cons of the mediation and the strategies to 10 be employed when negotiating,” fully supports the Settlement. See Docket (“Dkt.”) 11 No. 305.

12 In light of Class Representative’s informed assessment of: (i) the facts specific 13 to this Action, particularly IndyMac’s bankruptcy and the absence of the alleged 14 corporate wrongdoer from the Action and the limited insurance proceeds available to 15 satisfy a future judgment in the Action; (ii) the strengths and weaknesses of the 16 Class’s claims, and the defenses thereto, based on their extensive litigation and 17 settlement efforts over the pendency of this Action; (iii) the absence of opposition to 18 the Settlement to date; (iv) the considerable risks and delays associated with 19 continued litigation and trial; and (v) Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s past experience in similar 20 class actions, Class Representative and Plaintiffs’ Counsel firmly believe that the 21 Settlement is eminently fair, reasonable, and adequate and provides a substantial 22 result for the Class. Accordingly, Class Representative respectfully requests that the 23 Court grant final approval of this Settlement, and deem the Plan of Allocation a fair 24 and reasonable method for distributing the Net Settlement Fund to the Class.

25 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND AND HISTORY OF THE ACTION

26 This Action involves alleged material misrepresentations and omissions 27 concerning, inter alia, the quality and success of IndyMac’s internal controls and 28 underwriting. The operative Sixth Amended Class Action Complaint for Violations

1 of Sections 10(b) and 20(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Sixth
2 Amended Complaint” or the “Complaint”), alleged that IndyMac portrayed itself
3 throughout the Class Period as a stable and growing company that would not only 4 weather the bad times facing the mortgage industry, but would emerge from troubling 5 times even stronger; however, the Complaint also alleged that IndyMac’s internal 6 controls were deficient and the Company had loosened its underwriting. The 7 Complaint further alleged that these material misrepresentations and omissions 8 caused the price of IndyMac common stock to be artificially inflated throughout the 9 Class Period, resulting in damages to persons and entities that purchased or otherwise 10 acquired IndyMac common stock during this time.

11 It took myriad rounds of briefing on motion to dismiss, including numerous 12 supplemental briefs and hearings, an interlocutory appeal to the Ninth Circuit, and six 13 amended complaints before the allegations in the Sixth Amended Complaint were 14 upheld. Along the way, the Court dismissed (with prejudice) claims regarding 15 IndyMac’s earnings projections and hedging. In addition, claims against Executive 16 Vice President and Chief Financial Officer Scott Keys (“Keys”) and Executive Vice 17 President, Specialty Mortgage Lending S. Blair Abernathy were dismissed, and the 18 start of the Class Period was narrowed from January 26, 2006 to March 1, 2006. At 19 the seventh hearing on Defendant’s motion to dismiss the third amended complaint, 20 after extensive supplemental briefing on, inter alia, IndyMac’s bankruptcy, 21 Defendant’s motion to stay, Defendant’s motion to strike loss causation and hedging, 22 even the Court conveyed its hope that the Action would settle: “THE COURT: If you 23 guys tell me you’ve settled the case I will put you in front as well. I would not only 24 put you in front I would give you chocolates. And if it was near Mother’s Day I 25 would give you flowers.” Hr’g Tr. 40:19-22, May 11, 2009.

26 For the sake of brevity and to avoid repetition, Class Representative 27 respectfully refers the Court to the accompanying Abadou Declaration for a detailed 28

1 discussion of the factual background and procedural history of the Action. Abadou
2 Decl., ¶¶15-105, 120-28.⁸

3 III. THE SETTLEMENT SATISFIES THE STANDARDS FOR FINAL
4 APPROVAL UNDER RULE 23

5 A. Legal Standards for Judicial Approval of Class Action Settlements

6 Rule 23(e) requires that class action settlements be approved by the Court. It is 7 well established in the Ninth Circuit that “voluntary conciliation and settlement are 8 the preferred means of dispute resolution.” Browning v. MCI, 2010 U.S. Dist.
9 LEXIS 75736, at *21 (D. Nev. 2010) (quoting Officers for Justice v. Civil Serv.
10 Comm’n, 688 F.2d 615, 625 (9th Cir. 1982)); see In re Pac. Enters. Sec. Litig., 47 11 F.3d 373, 378 (9th Cir. 1995); Class Plaintiffs v. Seattle, 955 F.2d 1268, 1276 (9th 12 Cir. 1992). “[T]here is an overriding public interest in settling and quieting 13 litigation,” and this is “particularly true in class action suits.” Van Bronkhorst v.
14 Safeco Corp., 529 F.2d 943, 950 (9th Cir. 1976); see also In re OmniVision Techs., 15 Inc., 559 F. Supp. 2d 1036, 1041 (N.D. Cal. 2007) (“[T]he court must also be mindful
16 of the Ninth Circuit’s policy favoring settlement, particularly in class action law 17 suits.”).

18 The authority to grant approval of a proposed settlement lies within the sound 19 discretion of the Court. See Class Plaintiffs, 955 F.2d at 1276. A court, however, 20 should not adjudicate the merits of the action or substitute its judgment for that of the 21 parties who negotiated the settlement. See Carson v. Am. Brands, Inc., 450 U.S. 79, 22 88 n.14 (1981); Class Plaintiffs, 955 F.2d at 1291 (court “need not reach any ultimate 23 conclusions on the contested issues of fact and law which underlie the merits of the 24 dispute, for it is the very uncertainty of outcome in litigation and avoidance of 25

26 ⁸ In addition to the Abadou Declaration, Plaintiffs’ Counsel are simultaneously 27 submitting the Notice of Motion and Motion for an Award of Attorneys’ Fees and 28 Reimbursement of Expenses; and Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support (“Fee Memorandum”). The Abadou Declaration and Fee Memorandum are incorporated by reference herein.

1 wasteful and expensive litigation that induce consensual settlements”). Rather,
2 recognizing that a settlement represents an exercise of judgment by the negotiating 3 parties, Torrisi v. Tuscon Elec. Power Co., 8 F.3d 1370, 1375 (9th Cir. 1993); Hanlon
4 v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1026 (9th Cir. 1998), the court’s inquiry is limited 5 “to the extent necessary to reach a reasoned judgment that the agreement is not the 6 product of fraud or overreaching by, or collusion between, the negotiating parties.” 7 OmniVision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1041. “[T]he question whether a settlement is 8 fundamentally fair within the meaning of Rule 23(e) is different from the question 9 whether the settlement is perfect in the estimation of the reviewing court.” Lane v.
10 Facebook, Inc., 696 F.3d 811, 819 (9th Cir. 2012).

11 Courts have found that a strong initial presumption of fairness attaches to a 12 proposed settlement if the settlement is reached by experienced counsel after arm’s-13 length negotiations. See Fulford v. Logitech, Inc., 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29042, at 14 *7 (N.D. Cal. 2010) (“Counsel for both parties ha[d] extensive experience in complex 15 litigation, and they reached the Settlement [] after vigorous litigation and extensive 16 arm’s-length negotiation about the specific terms of the Settlement.”). Here, the 17 Settlement was reached by experienced, fully-informed counsel after: (i) more than 18 five years of contentious litigation; (ii) significant investigation and discovery; and 19 (iii) protracted settlement negotiations, including formal mediation presided over by 20 an experienced JAMS neutral and former judge. Abadou Decl., ¶¶4, 23-105, 120-28; 21 see also §III(C)(8), infra. Hence, Class Representative and Plaintiffs’ Counsel were 22 fully informed of the merits and weaknesses of the Action when the Settlement was 23 reached, and thus, little doubt exists that the Settlement is entitled to this presumption 24 of fairness.

25 B. The Ninth Circuit’s Standards Governing Class Action Settlements

26 The standard for reviewing a proposed settlement of a class action in the Ninth 27 Circuit, as in other circuits, is whether the proposed settlement is “fair, reasonable 28 and adequate.” Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 938, 952, 960 (9th Cir. 2003); Pac.

1 Enters., 47 F.3d 373; Officers for Justice, 688 F.2d at 625.⁹ A proposed settlement is 2 fair, reasonable and adequate when “the interests of the class as a whole are better 3 served if the litigation is resolved by the settlement rather than pursued.” Manual for 4 Complex Litigation, Third, §30.42 (1995). To that end, the Ninth Circuit has 5 identified eight factors to consider in deciding whether to approve a proposed 6 settlement of a class action: (1) the amount offered in settlement; (2) the reaction of 7 the class members to the proposed settlement; (3) the strength of plaintiffs’ case; (4) 8 the risk, expense, complexity, and likely duration of further litigation; (5) the extent 9 of discovery completed, and the stage of the proceedings; (6) the experience and 10 views of counsel; (7) the risk of maintaining class action status throughout the trial; 11 and (8) the absence of collusion. See Officers for Justice, 688 F.2d at 625; In re
12 Mego Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., 213 F.3d 454, 458 (9th Cir. 2000).

13 “The relative degree of importance to be attached to any particular factor will 14 depend upon and be dictated by the nature of the claims advanced, the types of relief 15 sought, and the unique facts and circumstances presented by each individual case.”
16 Officers for Justice, 688 F.2d at 625; see Linney v. Cellular Alaska P’ship, 151 F.3d 17 1234, 1242 (9th Cir. 1998). As demonstrated herein, and in the accompanying 18 Abadou Declaration, the Settlement more than satisfies each of the foregoing factors.
19 Accordingly, it is the considered judgment of Plaintiffs’ Counsel, Class 20 Representative and the mediator, Judge Weinstein, that the Settlement represents a 21 fair, reasonable, and adequate resolution of the Action and warrants this Court’s final 22 approval. Weinstein Decl., ¶¶14-16 (“I unreservedly and respectfully recommend 23 that this settlement be approved in a final basis by the Court.”).

26
27
28

⁹ When “the settlement takes place before formal class certification, settlement approval requires a ‘higher standard of fairness.’” Facebook, 696 F.3d at 819. Here, the Court formally certified the Class over Defendants’ objections on November 15, 2011. See Dkt. No. 285; Abadou Decl., ¶¶80-82.

1 C. The Settlement Satisfies This Circuit’s Criteria for Approval

2 1. The Amount Offered in Settlement

3 The determination of a “reasonable” settlement is not susceptible to a 4 mathematical equation yielding a particularized sum and a settlement is acceptable 5 even if it amounts to only a fraction of the potential recovery that might be available 6 at trial. Mego, 213 F.3d at 458. “Settlement is the offspring of compromise; the 7 question we address is not whether the final product could be prettier, smarter or 8 snazzier, but whether it is fair, adequate and free from collusion.” Hanlon, 150 F.3d 9 at 1027. “Naturally, the agreement reached normally embodies a compromise; in 10 exchange for the saving of cost and elimination of risk, the parties each give up 11 something they might have won had they proceeded with litigation.” Officers for 12 Justice, 688 F.2d at 624. Here, the Class will receive $5,500,000 less Plaintiffs’ 13 Counsel’s reasonable fees and expenses as awarded by the Court, in exchange for an 14 agreement to release claims against Defendant. This Settlement provides the 15 members of the Class with an immediate benefit and eliminates the significant risk 16 that, given the circumstances of this case, the Class could recover less than the 17 Settlement, or even nothing, if the Action continued. See, e.g., Abadou Decl., ¶¶112-18 16.

19 A critical consideration in Class Representative’s decision to enter into the 20 Settlement was IndyMac’s bankruptcy and the limited corporate resources available 21 to satisfy a future judgment against the Defendant. Id. In Torrisi, 8 F.3d at 1376, the 22 Ninth Circuit found that “one factor predominate[d] to make clear that the district 23 court acted within its discretion [in approving a settlement]. That factor [was the 24 defendant’s] financial condition.” The Ninth Circuit reasoned that:

25 [a]t the time of the settlement [defendant] was involved in negotiations 26 with its creditors to restructure its debt and had had an involuntary 27 bankruptcy petition recently filed against it. It had declared a payment 28 moratorium on its debts, and was attempting to obtain regulatory permission to raise its rates to permit it to continue operating. It reached an agreement with its other creditors at roughly the same time as the

1 settlement in this suit was agreed upon and there was evidence that the 2 assent of other creditors would probably have been withdrawn if this 3 settlement had failed. This could have led to a bankruptcy reorganization which would have left little if anything for class members.

4 Id. According to the Ninth Circuit, “[t]he reality of the situation was that the 5 settlement had to be negotiated based upon assets which could be called upon to fund 6 it.” Id.

7 Similarly, Immune Response noted that plaintiff “faced significant 8 collectability issues with respect to [defendant]. The Company admittedly had no 9 money to fund a judgment or settlement – the only available source of funds was 10 wasting insurance policies.” 497 F. Supp. 2d at 1172. Moreover, “[t]he longer 11 litigation went on, less and less money was available to satisfy a judgment or 12 settlement, because defense costs were depleting the policies.” Id. The court further 13 found that, as here, “[l]itigation would likely require costly discovery and the 14 continued assistance of experts. The trial would have lasted several weeks, and the 15 non-prevailing party would likely have appealed the judgment.” Id. As a result, the 16 court found that “[b]oth Parties would thus have to expend a significant amount of 17 resources if this litigation were to proceed.” The court found that these facts 18 supported the reasonableness of the settlement. Id.

19 Here, while defendants’ third motion to dismiss was pending, IndyMac filed 20 for Chapter 7 bankruptcy protection, and, as a result, was no longer a viable source of 21 recovery for the Class.¹⁰ Abadou Decl., ¶¶43, 112. Only limited insurance proceeds 22 were available to fund a settlement or satisfy a judgment. Id. ¶¶112-13. IndyMac’s 23

24 ¹⁰ This Action was filed on March 12, 2007, over 16 months before IndyMac’s 25 bankruptcy in July 2008. Abadou Decl., ¶¶21, 43. By contrast, the majority of the 26 securities fraud class actions arising from the subprime and housing crisis were filed 27 in late 2007 or 2008. See, e.g., In re Wash. Mut., Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 08-md-01919
28 (W.D. Wash Feb. 21, 2008) (initial complaint filed November 2007); In re Downey Sec. Litig., No. 08-cv-03261 (C.D. Cal. May 16, 2008) (initial complaint filed May 2008). Coady v. Perry, et al., No. CV 08-03812-GW (VBKx) (C.D. Cal. June 11, 2008), which was filed just a month before IndyMac’s July 2008 bankruptcy, for instance did not face the same loss causation difficulties present in this Action.

1 former officers and directors were named as defendants in at least ten different 2 actions as a result of IndyMac's demise. Id. As a result of Judge Klausner's June 27, 3 2012 order in the declaratory action, just one tower of insurance (originally $80 4 million) was available to satisfy all of the actions. Id. In addition, on July 20, 2012, 5 IndyMac's insurers filed an interpleader action against certain of IndyMac's former 6 officers and directors, including Defendant, asking the court to determine the 7 allocation of the remaining policy proceeds among the insureds. See id. ¶114; 8 Weinstein Decl., ¶¶12-13.

9 In considering whether to enter into the Settlement, Class Representative 10 weighed the value of immediate settlement against the prospect that significant 11 proceedings remained, including additional discovery, summary judgment briefing, 12 Daubert motions, trial preparation and trial. These proceedings would have added 13 further expense to both sides – further depleting already limited insurance proceeds 14 available for recovery – as well as years of delay for any recovery by the Class. See 15 In re Portal Software, Inc. Sec. Litig., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 88886, at *8 (N.D. Cal.
16 2007); Nat'l Rural Telecomm. Corp. v. DIRECTV, Inc., 221 F.R.D. 523, 526 (C.D.
17 Cal. 2004); In re Mfrs. Life Ins. Co. Premium Litig., 1998 U.S. Dist LEXIS 23217, at 18 *17 (S.D. Cal. 1998). Accordingly, Class Representative submits that this factor 19 weighs heavily in favor of the Settlement.

20 2. Reaction of the Class Members to the Settlement

21 The reaction of the class to the settlement is a significant factor in assessing its 22 fairness and adequacy. See In re Rambus Inc. Derivative Litig., 2009 U.S. Dist.
23 LEXIS 131845, at *10 (N.D. Cal. 2009). “[T]he absence of a large number of 24 objections to a proposed class action settlement raises a strong presumption that the 25 terms of a proposed class settlement action are favorable to the class members.”
26 OmniVision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1043. To date, over 71,000 copies of the Notice have 27 been mailed to potential Class Members or nominees. Miller Decl., ¶¶4-9. Pursuant 28 to the Preliminary Approval Order and as set forth in the Notice, the deadline for

1 Class Members to object to the Settlement, Plan of Allocation or Class Counsel's 2 request for attorneys' fees and expenses, or file a request for exclusion from the 3 Class, is December 28, 2012. As of the date of this filing, there have been no 4 objections, and only two individuals have requested exclusion from the Class.
5 Abadou Decl., ¶¶134, 179.¹¹ This absence of dissent combined with the minimal 6 number of requests for exclusion thus far militates in favor of final approval of the 7 Settlement.

8 3. The Strength of Plaintiffs' Case Supports the Settlement

9 Courts evaluating proposed class action settlements consider the risks faced by 10 plaintiffs in further litigation. See, e.g., Torrissi, 8 F.3d at 1376. At the time the 11 Settlement was reached, Class Representative and Plaintiffs' Counsel believed this 12 was a challenging case but that the Class could ultimately prevail against Defendant.
13 Nevertheless, they also recognized the numerous risks and uncertainties to further 14 litigation of the Class's claims. Abadou Decl., ¶¶106-19. See Bellows v. NCO Fin.
15 Sys. Inc., 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 103525, at *19 (S.D. Cal. 2008) (“[M]erely 16 reaching trial is no guarantee of recovery.”); OmniVision, 559 F. Supp. at 1041.
17 Class Representative and Plaintiffs' Counsel recognized that there have been many 18 securities class actions prosecuted in the belief that they were meritorious, only to 19 lose on summary judgment, at trial or on appeal.¹² Abadou Decl., ¶¶161-65.

20 Related litigation against IndyMac and its executives highlights the risks of 21 continuing to prosecute an Action such as this. Abadou Decl., ¶116. For example, as 22 ¹¹ If any objections or requests for exclusion are received after the date of this 23 submission, Plaintiffs' Counsel will address them in a separate submission to be filed with the Court on or before January 17, 2013.

24 ¹² See, e.g., In re Oracle Corp. Sec. Litig., 627 F.3d 376 (9th Cir. 2010)
25 (affirming grant of summary judgment on loss causation grounds); In re Clorox Co.

27 Local Nos. 175 & 505 Pension Trust Fund v. Clorox Co., 353 F.3d 1125 (9th Cir.
28 2004) (granting summary judgment in favor of defendants). Even a successful jury verdict for plaintiffs is no guarantee of a recovery. See In re Apollo Grp., Inc. Sec.
Litig., 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 61995 (D. Ariz. 2008), rev'd, 2010 U.S. App. LEXIS 14478 (9th Cir. 2010) (granting judgment to defendants and nullifying a unanimous jury verdict for plaintiffs following a two month trial).

1 has been widely noted in the press, the Honorable Manuel Real recently dismissed 2 large parts of a lawsuit brought by the SEC against Defendant and IndyMac's former 3 Chief Financial Officer Scott Keys at summary judgment. Id. ¶116 & Ex. C (Judge 4 Real "has been methodically dismantling the SEC's case, dismissing almost all of the 5 charges on summary judgment."). In the face of Defense Counsel and advocacy, the 6 SEC ultimately settled its claims against Defendant for $80,000. Id. ¶116. The most 7 significant risks and uncertainties of continued litigation, which were extensively 8 considered by Class Counsel and informed its recommendation of the Settlement to 9 Class Representative, are discussed below.

10 a. The Risk of Establishing Liability

11 By their very nature, securities class actions involve complex legal and factual 12 issues. This Action was prosecuted under the provisions of the Private Securities 13 Litigation Reform Act of 1995 ("PSLRA") and was inherently risky and difficult 14 from the outset. The intent of the PSLRA is to make it harder for investors to bring 15 and successfully conclude securities class actions. As retired Supreme Court Justice 16 Sandra Day O'Connor aptly recognized sitting by designation on the Fifth Circuit, 17 "[t]o be successful, a securities class-action plaintiff must thread the eye of a needle 18 made smaller and smaller over the years by judicial decree and congressional action."
19 Alaska Elec. Pension Fund v. Flowserve Corp., 572 F.3d 221, 235 (5th Cir. 2009).
20 Indeed, "the heightened pleading requirement of the PSLRA and the application of 21 Dura Pharm., Inc. v. Broudo, 544 U.S. 336, 125 S. Ct. 1627, 161 L. Ed. 2d 577
22 (2005), which poses significant risks to plaintiffs' ability to survive...summary 23 judgment and prevailing at trial, suggest that settlement here is prudent." Portal
24 Software, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 88886, at *8.

25 Here, Class Representative faced numerous hurdles to establishing liability, 26 particularly with respect to demonstrating Defendant's scienter and loss causation.
27 Abadou Decl., ¶¶105-11. For example, Perry has argued repeatedly that because he 28 sold no stock during the Class Period, he had no motive to engage in fraud. Id. ¶108.

1 It took three amended complaints and myriad rounds of briefing and supplemental 2 briefing on Perry's motion to dismiss before some of Lead Plaintiffs' scienter 3 allegations were upheld. Id. ¶¶23-57. Notwithstanding these efforts, claims against 4 Keys and claims regarding IndyMac's hedging and earnings projections were 5 dismissed for lack of scienter. Id. ¶¶36, 55, 57. See Immune Response, 497 F. Supp.
6 2d at 1172 ("The Court also recognizes that the issues of scienter and causation are 7 complex and difficult to establish at trial" and, as a result, "concludes that settlement 8 is a prudent course.").

9 b. The Risk of Establishing Loss Causation and Damages

10 Class Representative also faced substantial risks with respect to proving loss 11 causation and the Class's damages. Abadou Decl., ¶¶109-11. Even after the 12 complaint was amended three times on loss causation alone, and the Parties briefed 13 the issue no less than six times, the Court emphasized that its conclusion that loss 14 causation had been adequately pled was "by no means assured or obvious. It was a 15 close call." Dkt. No. 224 at 4, 242; Abadou Decl., ¶110. The Court also stated that, 16 "in light of [its] other rulings on the various motions to dismiss...the loss causation 17 element is perilously close to being entirely absent from this case." Dkt. No. 224 at 18 5; see Int'l Bhd. of Elec. Workers Local 697 Pension Fund v. Int'l Game Tech., Inc., 19 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 151498, at *7 (D. Nev. 2012) ("Plaintiffs have demonstrated 20 that there are risks associated with continued litigation, given the factual and legal 21 issues involved in the liability phase and the challenges in proving loss causation 22 damages."). "A careful consideration of the underlying facts and law is [] relevant to 23 whether Plaintiffs would have had difficulty proving their case had they proceeded to 24 trial...[T]he Class faced...significant obstacles to prevailing on the merits of its Rule 25 10b-5 claim had this case proceeded to trial" and "it would likely have had difficulty 26 proving loss causation and damages." City of Roseville Emps.' Ret. Sys. v. Micron 27 Tech., Inc., 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 47506, at *9 (D. Idaho 2011).

1 Moreover, the Parties' differing argument on loss causation and damages
2 hinged upon extensive expert discovery and testimony. See In re Warner Commc 'ns
3 Sec. Litig., 618 F. Supp. 735, 744-45 (S.D.N.Y. 1985), aff'd, 798 F.2d 35 (2d Cir.
4 1986). Although Class Representative believes he would have been able to present 5 expert testimony to meet his burden on loss causation, and rebut arguments, 6 Defendant's "establishing damages at trial would lead to a 'battle of experts'...with 7 no guarantee whom the jury would believe." In re Cendant Corp. Litig., 264 F.3d 8 201, 239 (3d Cir. 2001). A recent case illustrates this danger. In Hubbard v.
9 BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc., 688 F.3d 713 (11th Cir. 2012), the court affirmed a 10 lower court ruling granting defendants' motion for judgment as a matter of law on the 11 basis of loss causation, overturning a jury verdict and award in plaintiff's favor. The 12 Class faced this same risk here because Defendant asserted that any price declines in 13 the Company's securities were not caused by his alleged misrepresentations and 14 omissions, but rather by the world-wide economic downturn and issues unrelated to 15 Defendant's alleged fraud. Abadou Decl., ¶111. "The parties also have [therefore] 16 demonstrated that establishing loss causation damages may be challenging because of 17 the historic economic downturn that occurred during the Class Period." Int'l Game 18 Tech., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 151498, at *8.

19 Prosecuting these claims through trial and subsequent appeals would 20 have involved significant risk, expense, and delay to any potential 21 recovery. In light of the credit crisis our nation has undergone in recent 22 years, it is unforeseeable how a jury would perceive a case that hinged in 23 part on the level of risk that the investments at issue entailed. Other risks included proving loss causation and the falsity of the representations at issue.

24 In re Charles Schwab Corp. Sec. Litig., 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 44547, at *19 (N.D.
25 Cal. 2011).

26 Had the Action proceeded, there existed real uncertainties concerning liability, 27 causation and damages. Abadou Decl., ¶¶105-11; Weinstein Decl., ¶11. Instead, the 28

1 Class will recover a substantial recovery, without undertaking these risks, which 2 weighs strongly in favor of the Settlement.

3 4. The Risk, Expense, Complexity, and Likely Duration of the 4 Litigation

5 The certainty of an immediate recovery for the Class also strongly weighs in 6 favor of settlement. See, e.g., Officers for Justice, 688 F.2d at 626. Courts 7 consistently recognize that the risk, expense, complexity, and possible duration of the 8 litigation are critical factors in evaluating the reasonableness of a settlement. Torrisi, 9 8 F.3d at 1376. In fact, in “most situations, unless the settlement is clearly 10 inadequate, its acceptance and approval are preferable to lengthy and expensive 11 litigation with uncertain results.” DIRECTV, 221 F.R.D. at 526.

12 As set forth above and in the Abadou Declaration, Class Representative faced 13 severe risks to continued litigation, including successfully establishing liability, 14 causation and damages, as well as the strong likelihood that there would be limited 15 proceeds available to satisfy any judgment. Abadou Decl., ¶¶105-19. Class 16 Representative also faced the risks inherent in taking a case to trial, i.e. it is 17 impossible to predict how a trier of fact will construe conflicting evidence and 18 testimony. See Int’l Game Tech., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 151498, at *8. Although 19 Class Representative has litigated this Action for over five years and was in the midst 20 of discovery when the Settlement was reached, the costs associated with the 21 completion of discovery, expert discovery, summary judgment, including Daubert 22 motions, preparation for trial, a trial and the invariable post-trial appeals, were 23 extraordinarily high. Id. (“The action was filed in 2009 and, but for the settlement, 24 would require additional discovery, court intervention to resolve discovery disputes, 25 extensive briefings, and possibly a protracted, expensive and lengthy trial in order to 26 reach resolution.”).

27 Moreover, this Action, if taken to trial, would have required tremendous 28 preparation by both sides, and many hours of the Court’s time and resources. See

6 (“much of the value of a settlement lies in the ability to make funds available 7 promptly”). Thus, this factor supports the Settlement because, “[u]nlike protracted 8 litigation with an uncertain outcome, the Settlement offers class members prompt, 9 efficient and guaranteed relief.” White v. Experian Info. Solutions, Inc., 803 F. Supp.
10 2d 1086, 1095 (C.D. Cal. 2011).

11 5. The Extent of Discovery Completed and the Stage of the 12 Proceedings

13 The stage of proceedings and the amount of information available to the parties 14 to assess the strengths and weaknesses of their case is another factor that courts 15 consider in determining the fairness, reasonableness, and adequacy of a settlement.
16 See Mego, 213 F.3d at 459; Rambus, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 131845, at *8.
17 “[W]here, as here, a proposed class settlement has been reached after meaningful 18 discovery, after arm’s length negotiation conducted by capable counsel, it is 19 presumptively fair.” NCO, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 103525, at *18. By the time the 20 Parties reached the Settlement, Plaintiffs’ Counsel had sufficient knowledge and 21 understanding of the merits of the claims alleged in the Action and the defenses that 22 would be asserted by Defendant to determine that the Settlement is fair, reasonable 23 and adequate. As detailed in the Abadou Declaration, the Parties have been actively 24 litigating this Action since March 2007, during which time Plaintiffs’ Counsel 25 engaged in extensive investigation, research, and analysis of the Class’s claims, 26 including, among other things, review of SEC filings, analyst reports, news media, 27 findings of governmental agencies, filings in the bankruptcy and related litigation, 28 and interviews with former IndyMac employees. Abadou Decl., ¶¶4, 23-79, 83.

1 Class Representative and Plaintiffs' Counsel also, throughout the course of various 2 rounds of pleadings and motions to dismiss, engaged in extensive legal research, fine-3 tuning and honing of the Class's claims. Id.

4 Additionally, Class Representative engaged in substantial fact and class
5 certification discovery, including, inter alia, (i) serving Defendant with document 6 requests and engaging in multiple meet and confers regarding those requests; (ii) 7 serving Defendant with two sets of interrogatories and conferring with Defendant on 8 various occasions; (iii) serving subpoenas to myriad third parties, including 9 government entities, analysts, insurance companies, IndyMac's former auditor and 10 numerous former IndyMac employees, and engaging in numerous meet and confers 11 regarding those requests; (iv) conducting an initial review of the hundreds of 12 thousands of pages of evidence produced as a result of those discovery efforts; (v)
13 responding to Defendant's discovery requests; and (vi) preparing for and sitting for a 14 deposition. See Abadou Decl., ¶¶83-105. Mego, 213 F.3d at 459; Portal Software, 15 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 88886, at *10-*11.

16 In sum, the knowledge and insight gained by Class Representative and 17 Plaintiffs' Counsel following over five years of investigating, conducting discovery
18 and negotiating a highly uncertain settlement of the Action provided Class 19 Representative and Plaintiffs' Counsel with more than sufficient information to 20 evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of the Class's claims, Defendant's defenses, 21 and the likelihood of obtaining a larger recovery from Defendant had the Action 22 continued towards trial. See Immune Response, 497 F. Supp. 2d at 1171.

23 6. The Experience and Views of Counsel Supports the Settlement

24 “Great weight is accorded to the recommendation of counsel, who are most 25 closely acquainted with the facts of the underlying litigation.” DIRECTV, 221 26 F.R.D. at 528. Where, as here, the Settlement is the product of serious, informed, and 27 non-collusive negotiations, “the trial judge...should be hesitant to substitute its own 28 judgment for that of counsel.” Id.; see Int'l Game Tech., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS

1 151498, at *8-*9 (“The Court gives considerable weight to Lead Counsel’s 2 representation that the Settlement Amount is a favorable recovery based on their 3 understanding of the issues and challenges in this case in particular and their 4 experience in securities litigation in general.”); White, 803 F. Supp. 2d at 1099 (“the 5 fact that experienced counsel involved in the case approved the settlement after hard-6 fought negotiations is entitled to considerable weight”).

7 Plaintiffs’ Counsel have extensive experience prosecuting complex securities 8 class actions, are intimately familiar with the facts of this Action and believe that the 9 Settlement is fair and reasonable and in the best interests of the Class. See firm 10 biography of Kessler Topaz (Abadou Decl., Ex. D), Ex. 3; Declaration of Lionel Z.

12 Glancy Binkow & Goldberg LLP (Abadou Decl., Ex. E), Ex. 2; Declaration of 13 Andrew N. Friedman in Support of Motion for Reimbursement of Expenses Filed on 14 Behalf of Cohen Milstein Sellers & Toll PLLC (Abadou Decl., Ex. F), Ex. 2. NCO, 15 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 103525, at *22. Indeed,

16 [b]oth Parties are represented by experienced counsel and their mutual 17 desire to adopt the terms of the proposed settlement, while not 18 conclusive, is entitled to great deal of weight. Both Parties’ negotiation 19 and adoption of the settlement terms, based on their familiarity with the 20 law in this practice area and the strengths and weaknesses of their 21 respective positions, suggests the reasonableness of the settlement. This 22 factor clearly favors settlement.

21 Immune Response, 497 F. Supp. 2d at 1174.

22 7. The Risk of Maintaining the Class Action Through Trial 23 Supports the Settlement

24 Although the Class has already been formally certified, there is no assurance of 25 maintaining its class status since courts may exercise their discretion to re-evaluate 26 the appropriateness of class certification at any time. See Int’l Game Tech., 2012 27 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 151498, at *7-*8 (“Plaintiffs would also have to...maintain class 28 action status throughout the action.”); OmniVision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1041 (noting

1 that even if a class is certified, “there is no guarantee the certification would survive 2 through trial, as Defendants might have sought decertification or modification of the 3 class”). For example, in the related In re IndyMac Mortg. Backed Sec. Litig., No. 09-
4 cv-04583 (S.D.N.Y. 2009), litigation pending in the Southern District of New York, 5 the Second Circuit recently agreed on November 26, 2012 to hear an interlocutory 6 appeal of the court’s order granting class certification. Similarly, here, Defendant
7 vigorously opposed class certification arguing, for example, that Mr. Mossberg’s 8 post-Class Period IndyMac stock purchases rendered him atypical, and that 9 Defendant had effectively rebutted the fraud-on-the-market presumption of reliance 10 set forth in Basic Inc. v. Levinson, 485 U.S. 224, 247-48 (1988). Dkt. No. 278; see 11 also Abadou Decl., ¶¶80-82. Defendant would have likely asserted this same 12 position at trial, and if Defendant’s position was accepted by a jury, the Class’s 13 maximum recoverable damages would diminish significantly.¹³

14 Indeed, the Supreme Court is currently reviewing the Ninth Circuit’s decision 15 in Conn. Ret. Plans & Trust Fund v. Amgen, Inc., 660 F.3d 1170 (9th Cir. 2011), 16 holding that a plaintiff in a securities fraud class action need not prove materiality at 17 class certification and applying the fraud-on-the market presumption of reliance.
18 Abadou Decl., ¶165. Class Representative cited Amgen in further support of his 19 motion for class certification, and its disposition could have affected class status in 20 this Action. Id. The Settlement avoids any uncertainty with respect to this issue. See 21 Micron, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 47506, at *13.

22 8. The Absence of Fraud or Collusion Supports the Settlement

23 Finally, the Settlement is not a product of collusion. “The assistance of an 24 experienced mediator in the settlement process confirms that the settlement is non-

25
26 ¹³ As Justice Antonin Scalia noted in Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 131 S. Ct.
27 2541, 2552 n.6 (2011), to invoke the “fraud on the market presumption,” “plaintiffs 28 seeking 23(b)(3) certification must prove that their shares were traded on an efficient market, an issue they will surely have to prove again at trial in order to make out their case on the merits.”

1 collusive.” Satchell v. Fed. Express Corp., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 99066, at *17
2 (N.D. Cal. 2007); see Int’l Game Tech., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 151498, at *8 3 (settlement fair where it “was reached following arm’s length negotiations between 4 experienced counsel that involved the assistance of an experienced and reputable 5 private mediator, [a] retired Judge”); Harris v. Vector Mktg. Corp., 2011 U.S. Dist.
6 LEXIS 48878, at *25-*26 (N.D. Cal. 2011) (“[T]he parties reached their settlement 7 during a mediation session conducted by [a mediator], who has significant experience 8 mediating complex civil disputes. This further suggests that the parties reached the 9 settlement in a procedurally sound manner and that it was not the result of collusion 10 or bad faith by the parties or counsel.”); Chun-Hoon v. McKee Foods Corp., 716 F.
11 Supp. 2d 848, 852 (N.D. Cal. 2010) (same); Carter v. Anderson Merchandisers, LP, 12 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 55581, at *22 (C.D. Cal. 2010) (same).

13 Indeed, “[t]he presumption in favor of the negotiated settlement in this case is 14 strengthened by the fact that settlement was reached in an extended mediation
15 supervised by Judge Weinstein.” In re Flag Telecom Holdings, Ltd. Sec. Litig., 2010
16 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 119702, at *40 (S.D.N.Y. 2010). The Parties engaged in over a 17 year and a half of formal mediation with Judge Weinstein, involving numerous in-18 person sessions, multiple mediation briefs, presentations to defense counsel and 19 counsel for the insurers, and additional arm’s-length negotiations prior to reaching an 20 agreement to settle the Action. See Weinstein Decl., ¶¶6-11, 14; Abadou Decl., 21 ¶¶120-28; Micron, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 47506, at *14 (noting that “Judge 22 Weinstein has extensive experience in mediating class-action cases” and finding 23 “nothing in the record to suggest the settlement was the product of overreaching, 24 collusion, or fraud between the negotiating parties”).

25 At all times during the negotiations and drafting of the settlement papers, Class 26 Counsel zealously advocated for the best interests of the Class while counsel for 27 Defendant fervently advanced his position. Abadou Decl., ¶¶120-28. But for the 28 Settlement, Plaintiffs’ Counsel were prepared to continue prosecuting the Action to 1 trial. See Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1027. “The arms-length, contentious negotiations that 2 culminated in the settlement agreement indicate that the settlement was reached in a 3 procedurally sound manner. There is nothing in the record indicating any collusion or 4 bad faith by the parties.” Portal Software, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 88886, at *12.

5 Moreover, after engaging in a comprehensive analysis of the merits and 6 circumstances of this Action, Judge Weinstein presented the Parties with a mediator’s 7 proposal, which the Parties ultimately accepted to settle the Action. Abadou Decl., 8 ¶¶120-28; Weinstein Decl., ¶¶6-11, 14. See Morales v. Stevco, Inc., 2011 U.S. Dist.
9 LEXIS 130604, at *32 (E.D. Cal. 2011) (granting preliminary approval because, 10 among other things, “[t]he parties utilized an impartial mediator, and the matter was 11 ‘resolved by means of a mediator’s proposal.’ Thus, the agreement is the product of 12 non-collusive conduct.”); Weinstein Decl., ¶15 (“I can state that each settlement term 13 represents a heavily negotiated and arm’s length compromise of disputed claims 14 among experienced and able counsel.”); Mfrs. Life Ins., 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 15 23217, *24 (“Judge Weinstein’s endorsement, while not essential to approval or 16 binding, is another factor in the Settlement’s favor”); see n.4, supra.

17 Class Representative respectfully submits that all of the circumstances of the 18 Settlement demonstrate that it is fair, reasonable and adequate and warrants Court 19 approval. See Weinstein Decl., ¶¶15-16; Torrissi, 8 F.3d at 1376 (“In addition to 20 [defendant’s] financial condition, other factors point to the conclusion that the 21 settlement was fair. The inherent risks of litigation, the class’[s] overwhelming 22 positive reaction, the opinion of two sets of experienced counsel, and the cost, 23 complexity and time of fully litigating the case all suggest that this settlement was 24 fair.”).

25 IV. THE PLAN OF ALLOCATION IS FAIR, REASONABLE AND 26 ADEQUATE

27 Upon approval of the Settlement and entry of an Order approving distribution, 28 the Net Settlement Fund shall be distributed to Authorized Claimants. The proposed

1 Plan of Allocation contained in the Notice details the manner in which the Net 2 Settlement Fund shall be allocated. See Miller Decl., Exhibit A. The Court has 3 broad discretion in approving the Plan. See Class Plaintiffs, 955 F.2d at 1284. The 4 standard for approval of the Plan is the same as the standard for approving the 5 Settlement as a whole – the Plan must be fair, reasonable and adequate. Id. An 6 allocation formula need only have a reasonable basis, particularly if recommended by 7 experienced class counsel. See Heritage Bond, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 13555, at *38.
8 Here, the Plan was prepared after careful consideration, detailed analysis, and the 9 assistance of a damages expert. Abadou Decl., ¶134. The Plan was fully disclosed in 10 the Notice that was mailed to over 71,000 potential Class Members and nominees, 11 and as of this filing, no Class Member has filed an objection to the Plan. Id. ¶¶134, 12 156.

13 The Plan provides for distribution of the Net Settlement Fund to Class 14 Members who have a loss on their transactions in IndyMac common stock purchased 15 or otherwise acquired during the Class Period. Id. ¶¶135-40. To have a loss, a Class 16 Member must have held eligible IndyMac common stock as of January 16, 2007. Id.
17 ¶135(b). The formula to apportion the Net Settlement Fund among Class Members is 18 based on when they purchased, acquired and/or sold their IndyMac common stock in 19 relation to IndyMac’s disclosures on January 16, 2007, February 28, 2007 and March 20 1, 2007,¹⁴ and also takes into account the 90-day look back period.¹⁵ Id. ¶¶135-40.
21 See OmniVision, 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1045 (“It is reasonable to allocate the settlement

22 ¹⁴ Recognized Claim amounts for purchases/acquisitions of IndyMac common 23 stock on March 1, 2007 are calculated separately from purchases/acquisitions of 24 IndyMac common stock made during the rest of the Class Period because most of the 25 decline associated with the corrective disclosure on March 1, 2007 had already 26 occurred overnight (between February 28, 2007 and March 1, 2007), such that most 27 of the inflation had been removed by the opening of trading on March 1, 2007. Id.
28 ¶135(c).

¹⁵ Recognized Claims are reduced to an appropriate extent by taking into account the closing prices of IndyMac common stock during the 90-day look-back period.
See 15 U.S.C. §78u-4(e)(1); Section 21(D)(e)(1) of the PSLRA. The mean (average) closing price for IndyMac common stock during this 90-day look-back period was $30.95. Id. ¶135(c) n.9.

1 funds to class members based on the extent of their injuries or the strength of their 2 claims on the merits.”). Moreover, the Plan is not a formalized damage study. It is a 3 simplified methodology designed to compare one Class Member to another through 4 their respective Class Period transactions in IndyMac common stock. Id. ¶140.

5 Under the Plan, the Court-appointed claims administrator, Rust, will calculate 6 each Authorized Claimant’s “Recognized Claim,” based on the information regarding 7 Class Period transactions in IndyMac common stock supplied in the Class Member’s 8 Proof of Claim. Id. ¶135(a). If the total Recognized Claims for all Authorized 9 Claimants exceeds the Net Settlement Fund, each Authorized Claimant’s share of the 10 Net Settlement Fund will be determined based upon the percentage that his, her or its 11 Recognized Claim bears to the total Recognized Claims for all Authorized Claimants.
12 Id. See In re Broadcom Corp. Sec. Litig., 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 41976, at *17 (C.D.
13 Cal. 2005) (approving plan of allocation where the allocation was pro rata across the 14 class). Accordingly, Class Representative believes that this method of allocation is 15 reasonable, fair and equitable and therefore, warrants the Court’s approval.

16 V. CONCLUSION

17 For the foregoing reasons, Class Representative respectfully submits that the 18 Settlement and Plan of Allocation are fair, reasonable, and adequate, and respectfully 19 requests this Court to grant final approval of the Settlement and Plan of Allocation.

1 THE COURT: Okay. The bewitching hour of 10:45 has 2 arrived. People who used to argue with each other are going 3 to say nice things about each other here. We've got 4 Minneapolis Firefighters versus Medtronic.

5 Mr. Cambronne.

6 MR. CAMBRONNE: Thank you, your Honor. Your Honor, 7 we're here. A hearing sometimes takes a long time. I don't 8 think this one will require too much time because we have the 9 wonderful posture we present with today as having no 10 objections to the 85 million-dollar settlement in the 11 Medtronic case. There were 546,000 potential class members 12 here, your Honor, and as of, I think, yesterday, there was a 13 hundred and three opt-outs, which comprise only 16,000 14 shares, or thereabouts. We can't tell precisely. What that 15 means, your Honor, that's .003 percent of the potential 16 shares that are outstanding. All of this data, by the way, 17 is contained in the reply brief that we filed in connection 18 with this matter. So we have a posture, where I think 19 Mr. Carter will join me in saying, that we urge the court's 20 willingness to approve this settlement under the standards 21 outlined in Rule 23, that it's fair, reasonable and adequate, 22 that notice was proper. And that the case ought to be 23 resolved on the basis that it was the subject of a lot of 24 discussion, a lot of mediation and multiple mediators. I'll 25 get into that a little bit later, your Honor. There's 1 actually three orders that we are asking the court to enter,

2 copies of which have been e-mailed in word form to chambers
3 earlier this week, one is the judgment that has now been made 4 proper in form and e-mailed to chambers. That approves the 5 settlement. The next one, your Honor, essentially approves 6 the plan of allocation. And if I may just summarize, your 7 Honor, we wanted people who bought during the class period, 8 who netted their shares for sales during the class period, 9 and ultimately get to share a piece of the pie. And that 10 plan of allocation, your Honor, is a pretty standard one.
11 And it, too, has not been the subject of any objections.

12 So, finally, your Honor -- and that's Order Number 13 2. Finally, your Honor, we do ask that the court enter an 14 Order approving a fee request and an expense award. The 15 class was notified that we would be seeking a 25-percent 16 award in this matter. That is what has been sought in this 17 case. And costs of a million, four eighty-one and change, 18 your Honor. All of that has been the subject of -- and I'm 19 sure you're aware of this -- substantial support and data 20 that has been presented to you by the way of affidavit about 21 what happened in this case, and the like. The fact of the 22 matter is, your Honor, that this case presents a negative
23 multiplier. In other words, oftentimes in common-fund cases 24 attorneys ask the court to award a multiplier over and above
25 hourly rate times hours. Well, in this case, that multiplier

1 really is a negative multiplier. In other words .74 percent
2 of the fees that have been expended in this case are asked 3 for to be covered by this award. I'm not saying it's an 4 insignificant fee award, your Honor, but it presents itself 5 to you in the same posture; that is, this entire class has 6 been informed of what has happened, and there's not a single 7 person who has stepped forward to say that they think maybe 8 you ought to take a different look at it.

9 With no objections, your Honor, to these three 10 orders, I, on behalf of plaintiffs's counsel -- and we have 11 the lead counsel contingent here. And I think they may want 12 to introduce themselves just to say hi. If you don't mind, 13 I'll just ask them to stand and introduce yourselves.

14 THE COURT: Why don't we do that. Just go through 15 and --

16 MR. GRAZIANO: Sal Graziano, counsel, Bernstein, 17 Litowitz. Good morning, your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Good morning.

19 MR. ABADOU: Good morning, your Honor. Ramzi
20 Abadou from the Kessler, Topaz law firm.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Welcome.

22 MR. HUGHES: Good morning, your Honor. James 23 Hughes from Motley, Rice, in South Carolina, your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Welcome.

25 MR. ALMEIDA: Jeff Almeida from Grant & Eisenhofer.

1 THE COURT: Okay. Very good.

2 MR. CAMBRONNE: I'd ask my colleague and friend, 3 Mr. Carter, to add anything to the substance as I've just 4 outlined here. And if you have any other views, Peter....

5 THE COURT: Maybe before I do that, because there 6 are some faces in the audience that I don't necessarily 7 recognize, is there anyone here that is appearing in any way 8 in opposition to this settlement?

9 UNIDENTIFIED INDIVIDUALS: (Indicating negatively).

10 THE COURT: Okay. Very well. Thank you. Proceed, 11 Mr. Carter.

12 MR. CARTER: Your Honor, I wanted to start by 13 thanking the court and the court's staff for the time and 14 attention that it devoted to this matter. I think this was 15 an unusual matter, it took a great deal of time and energy.
16 I especially want to thank the court with respect to 17 settlement because, at your request, Magistrate Judge Boylan
18 really built a bridge across the Grand Canyon that existed 19 between the parties. And obviously we're here because we 20 were able to successfully resolve the case.

21 The other thing I'd like to say is defendants 22 continue to deny liability. There was no violation of the 23 securities laws here. But, nonetheless, we believe this 24 settlement is fair, adequate, reasonable and is in the best 25 interests of the shareholders, and we urge the court for a

1 final approval of this settlement.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Very well.

3 MR. CAMBRONNE: It's good to work with not only a 4 court, as Peter says, that treats us so professionally, but 5 it's good to work with a professional on the other side, too, 6 and that's Peter Carter, your Honor. We are kind of the 7 point people, but there's a whole army phalanx that has been 8 prompted in this case. Many, many faces, your Honor. And 9 it's good that people who are reasonable can get together and 10 talk about resolving cases. And that was done because of the 11 man to your right, your Honor.

12 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. Thank you 13 for the submissions. The court has had opportunity to review 14 the submissions and the three Orders that are submitted. The 15 actual words of the Orders will be signed, et cetera. It 16 still turns out, apparently, there are some listed plaintiffs 17 that did not get included in the heading that we got. We're 18 going to correct that. We'll do it in the backroom.

19 MR. CAMBRONNE: Okay.

20 THE COURT: And we'll sign the Orders accordingly.
21 Well, enough said about that. Like I said earlier to you 22 that when we had cool pens, we got things done. But 23 computers are computers. So, anyway, with respect to that 24 know that the court does grant each and every one of the 25 motions that are before me today, and that Orders,

1 accordingly, will be executed today. And with my thanks to 2 you.

3 Mr. Carter, a moment ago you said -- I didn't want 4 to say anything at this point because I didn't know who was 5 in the room -- something about the chairs here in the 6 courtroom and an unfamiliarity with them. The thing that 7 immediately went across my mind was "But for today, you'd 8 become very familiar with that chair." I think we'd be here 9 for a goodly length of time.

10 And to counsel in this matter on both tables, I 11 really commend you, and I commend even counsel that are 12 absent. I know that there was an credible amount of work 13 that went on behind the scenes that I'm not privy to at the 14 front, except to know that it was being done, know that it 15 was being very well done. In the final analysis, I make 16 particular thanks to the two gentlemen that are standing 17 before me.

18 And, then, finally, let me take a moment to just 19 say my word of personal thanks to Chief Judge Boylan. I 20 really didn't care to have Mr. Carter become that familiar 21 with his chair. It's a tremendous, tremendous amount of 22 saving of court time, of litigants time, of citizens time, of 23 parties time and, frankly, a tremendous saving of cost to our 24 country to save litigation of this kind.

25 To Judge Boylan I say a particular thank you for 1 all of your hard work in resolving this matter. I think with 2 that, I should recognize the lawyers, because they probably 3 have something else they might want to comment on.

4 MR. CAMBRONNE: Yes, we do, your Honor. And we do
5 this jointly. Step up here, Mr. Carter. We were so moved 6 by, and blessed by, the fact that Judge Boylan rolled up his 7 sleeves for multiple days -- this wasn't an afternoon sort of 8 deal -- and multiple phone calls. We said we could not, in 9 good conscience, only just recognize this on a transcript or 10 record, but we want him to have a personal record of what we 11 feel about him. And if I may, Peter -- and could you ask -- 12 could you order him to step down here, your Honor.

13 THE COURT: So ordered.

14 MR. CARTER: And, by the way, one of the things you 15 may not know, Judge, is that Judge Boylan, while on vacation 16 in Florida, had to make numerous phone calls to the parties.
17 So I feel like he was in the doghouse with his family because 18 of us, which hopefully he'll accept our token. And I know 19 that won't necessarily give him his vacation days back, 20 but....

21 MR. CAMBRONNE: You're right. I'm going to explain 22 something here, that Peter and I arranged to have this, but 23 really it was on behalf of all counsel who knew about it in 24 advance also. It says, and I quote, Magistrate Judge Arthur 25 Boylan, In re: Medtronic Securities Litigation, Civil Action

1 Number 08-6324. In appreciation of your extraordinary
2 mediation skills. Karl Cambronne on behalf of plaintiffs' 3 counsel, Peter Carter on behalf of defendants' counsel. And 4 we have your own spine. We gave you a spine here as part of 5 this.

6 MR. CARTER: It's a healthy spine.

7 MR. CAMBRONNE: Now, I've got to tell you
8 something. We were going to put an infuse on there, but it 9 costs $20,000. We said you don't get an infuse, you just get 10 a spine. So on behalf of all of us, your Honor, thank you so 11 much.

12 MR. CARTER: Thank you, your Honor.

13 CHIEF MAGISTRATE JUDGE BOYLAN: Thank you, Peter.

14 MR. CAMBRONNE: There you go.

15 CHIEF MAGISTRATE JUDGE BOYLAN: Thank you, Karl.

16 Judge, can I have leave of court to make this 17 special appearance?

18 THE COURT: You have it.

19 CHIEF MAGISTRATE JUDGE BOYLAN: I'm usually not on 20 this side of the bench. First of all, thank you very much, 21 Peter and Karl. I wanted to particularly thank a number of 22 people that aren't here. I don't know all of their names.
23 One who's particularly in mind is Max Berger of New York.

24 I can tell you, Judge, that I've been a judge, as 25 you know, either in state or federal court, for over 26

1 years, and you get a feel for --

2 THE COURT: You're just a newcomer.

3 CHIEF MAGISTRATE JUDGE BOYLAN: What's that, Judge?

4 THE COURT: You're just a newcomer.

5 CHIEF MAGISTRATE JUDGE BOYLAN: I'm the newcomer.

6 But you do get a feel for the quality of representation 7 before you. But more than that, the quality of the people, 8 personally and professionally. And Mr. Berger and Peter 9 Carter and Karl Cambronne, and the gentlemen who are here in 10 the courtroom, Sal and Ramzi, and in-house, Rita, the people 11 at Medtronic, from the general counsel down to the clerks in 12 the Legal Department, all of them exhibited such 13 professionalism and such hard work and such good faith in 14 pursuing this. While I appreciate this gift and this 15 recognition, Judge, I have to tell you that without your 16 active participation, and encouragement of the parties, and 17 without their good-faith and hard work, it never would have 18 been possible. So while I'm being recognized, it's really a 19 lot of other people who deserve this, not me. But thank you 20 very much.

21 THE COURT: Thank you, Art. The thought crosses my 22 mind as you receive this today -- and I commend you for it 23 because, quite honestly, in the 31 years that I've been at 24 this, this is the first time I've seen this kind of a 25 recognition. And that speaks loud and clear. What I'm also

1 struck with, Art -- and I know you've been on vacation, and 2 all this stuff -- this is also the same day that Johnny 3 Lebedoff is getting recognized this evening over at the ACLU
4 for his efforts. And, of course, as all of you know, Johnny 5 and I worked together for a long time. And, Art, you spent 6 all that time on vacation, making telephone calls, and 7 everything else. If you guys just would have called Johnny, 8 he would have told you, "Split the difference. And who will 9 give me a ride home"?

10 To all of you, thank you very much. There's 11 something kind of anticlimactic, I guess, but it's a very 12 true statement. Hard-fought litigation ends up in these 13 class actions with these kind of love-ins at the end of them.
14 In some respects, I wish now I would have asked all of those 15 news lawyers to stay and watch what I believe to be the 16 second largest resolution of this nature in the history of 17 this district, resolved in the good spirit that's in, because 18 that teaches young lawyers a lot. But I forgot to tell them 19 to do that. Thank you very much. We stand adjourned at this 20 point.

21 (Court stood in recess at approximately 10:00 a.m., 22 on November 8th, 2012).
